Table POL10: As you may know, hydroxychloroquine is a drug used to treat malaria and rheumatoid conditions like arthritis. Recently, the National Institutes of Health (NIH) announced it was testing hydroxychloroquine for treatment of COVID-19, also known as coronavirus. Some government officials have supported using hydroxychloroquine before testing is over, while others say it should be fully tested. Do you support or oppose the use of hydroxychloroquine to treat COVID-19 before the NIH is done testing its effectiveness?

Table POL10: As you may know, hydroxychloroquine is a drug used to treat malaria and rheumatoid conditions like arthritis. Recently, the National Institutes of Health (NIH) announced it was testing hydroxychloroquine for treatment of COVID-19, also known as coronavirus. Some government officials have supported using hydroxychloroquine before testing is over, while others say it should be fully tested. Do you support or oppose the use of hydroxychloroquine to treat COVID-19 before the NIH is done testing its effectiveness?
